

CHRONIC PAIN AS A CANCER LATE EFFECT

FRIDAY 20TH MARCH 2026

APEX HOTEL

1 JAMES STREET, BATH BA1 2DA

This one-day course is designed for healthcare professionals who work with adults experiencing chronic pain as a consequence of cancer treatment.

The event will explore the complexity of pain as a cancer late effect, combining lived patient experiences, expert perspectives, and practical management strategies.

Highlights include:

- Patient voices sharing first-hand experiences of living with pain after cancer treatment
- Expert insights from Martin Galligan, NIHR Doctoral Research Fellow and Senior Lecturer at The Royal Marsden School, alongside the CCLERS specialist interdisciplinary team
- Understanding and managing the wider impact of pain – including fatigue, sleep disruption, brain fog, and the effects on mind, body, and self
- Networking opportunities with colleagues and specialists in cancer pain rehabilitation
